

Peter Graham known around the cape as Crazy Pete (but that's another story) holds the positions of elected member of the WTA, Chair of the Planning and Development Sub-Committee and Chair of the Counter Disaster Management Committee.

Peter has lived in Weipa for the past 15 years and with his partner Robbie Griffiths has contributed to the towns economy with several successful business ventures over those years in real estate, entertainment, appliance hire and the famous Snack Shack at Evans Landing to name a few. Peter and Robbie own and operate the Anchorage accommodation complex at Rocky Point and have done so for the past 4 years.

Peter is an active member of Volunteer Marine Rescue and is the Weipa units president, training officer and senior skipper of the rescue vessel based at Evans Landing. He also holds a position on the state council for marine rescue and has done so for the past 12 years. In 2006 he and two other crew members of the Weipa rescue vessel were presented with bravery awards for the rescue of two men during cyclone Monica.

His main objective while serving on the authority is to establish a long term plan for the governance and financing of the town.

Peter served time with the Royal Australian Navy and comes from a long line of family with naval and army backgrounds. He thinks that the time is about right to see Weipa with its own naval cadet unit. His interests lay in fishing and the odd spot of camping. He also enjoys a game of bowls but is yet to win a competition game. Peter regularly holds boat licensing courses and runs a variety of boating education courses for the general public.
